Sir! I love what you're doing. I work for an adult magazine (Exotic) from Portland, and they love you (as do I). We heard about the sex toys being sent your way by assholes. We'd like to bring you a bunch of food/snacks/supplies in exchange for the sex toys. This is not a joke. We support you and I'd be glad to interview you for our magazine without bias. How do we reach you? Address?

Boy, your relatives sure are beating you up in the comments section of Pete Santilli's YouTube channel. I had no idea you were such a terrible father.

Blaine Cooper: I hear you are still fighting up in that Oregon place. Do you think you could do me a favor? I have a bunch of stuff in my backyard and it's supposed to rain later this week. Between shooting off rounds and taking down the government, could you maybe run over to wherever Lavoy Finicum's blue tarp is and grab it for me? Maybe you could call a truce and FedEx it to me tomorrow? It looks like the perfect size. Also, could you maybe wipe off any blood/patch up any bullet holes? Thank you for your pretend service. P.S. Be careful of bears. If you see one, play dead. But not near a cliff because the bear will bury you, and when he stomps on the dirt, you'll fall through and plummet like a thousand feet. And don't expect a river to save you, because you'll miss it.

Blaine: This is Doc, we were at the restaurant in John Day. I gave you my phone number, give me a call today if you can, I have supplies to bring to you and your group. If you can't just get back to me here and I will make a day/time that Harry and I can go. Keep the faith and if you need anything let me know before we leave for there.

Turned tail and ran from DEP for the marines. Turned tail and ran from Malheur. The only one you didn't run from was the little Mexican children along the Texas/Mexico border.
