

SIGN IN BECOME A MEMBER

Monday, January 3, 2011

1 Rule of a flat stomach :
Cut down a bit of stomach fat every day by using this 1 weird old tip.

Tip

TRAFFIC
Live cameras
& traffic
Construction

Boise, ID
High 26 | Low 14
Currently: 16°
Tue 30 | Wed 33 | Thu 36 | 26

SUBSCRIBE TODAY
Idaho Statesman
Subscriber services
eStatesman

Home News Sports Business Politics Opinion Entertainment Lifestyles Outdoors Special Content Jobs Cars Homes Rentals Classifieds Shopping

SEARCH: All

SEARCH Web Search powered by YAHOO! SEARCHQUICK LINKS: Obituaries Varsity Extra Boise State football iPhone App NW Ski Map

News &gt; Local News &gt; Boise, Garden City, Mountain Home

Chinese company eyes Boise

As economic power shifts to Asia, Idaho's location makes it a prime site for an industrial foothold.

BY ROCKY BARKER - rbarker@idahostatesman.com
Copyright: © 2010 Idaho Statesman
Published: 12/31/10

340 Comments

A Chinese national company is interested in developing a 10,000- to 30,000-acre technology zone for industry, retail centers and homes south of the Boise Airport.

Officials of the China National Machinery Industry Corp. have broached the idea — based on a concept popular in China today — to city and state leaders.

They are also interested in helping build and finance a fertilizer plant near American Falls, an idea company officials returned to Idaho this month to pursue.

This ambitious, long-term proposal would start with a manufacturing and warehouse zone tied to the airport, and could signify a shift in the economic relationship between the two superpowers — a relationship once defined by U.S. companies like the J.R. Simplot Co., Hewlett-Packard and Morrison-Knudsen that would head to China to build and develop.

"I think China's coming over here shows they are willing to collaborate on the reinvigoration of the American industrial base," said Jeff Don, CEO of Eagle-based C3, which is acting as an Idaho representative for the Chinese company, called Sinomach for short.

Sinomach is just one of an increasing number of companies and investors showing interest in Idaho.

Hoku Materials Inc., a subsidiary of a Chinese energy firm, already has 500 people building its $400 million plant to make polysilicon for solar panels in Pocatello. It expects to begin production in 2011, employing 250 people, said Scott Paul, Hoku's president and CEO.

China surpassed Japan as the second largest economy in the world in 2010. And in June, Gov. Butch Otter traveled there to tell anyone who would listen that Idaho is open for business.

EAST IDAHO PROJECT COULD COME FIRST

Sinomach is China's third-largest contractor, with more than $14 billion in sales last year. It has been active in more than 130 countries in Asia, Africa, Latin America, Russia and Eastern Europe as general contractor for large infrastructure and building projects.

AA Enlarge Font AA Decrease Font
See All Photo Galleries

ELSEWHERE

Read Rocky Barker's Letters from the West blog

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

AN IDAHO-CHINA UPDATE

Hoku Corp., a subsidiary of Tianwei New Energy Holdings Co, a Chinese company, has invested $270 million of the more than $400 million it expects to spend on its Pocatello plant to manufacture polysilicon for the solar market.

All of the polysilicon will be shipped back to China.

Idaho's exports to China for the first three quarters of 2010 were $506 million, a 35 percent increase over 2009. Overall, Idaho imports rose to $3.8 billion from $2.7 billion in 2009. Idaho had $3.9 billion in three quarters in 2008.

The Idaho Regional Center, a company developing the Gold Hill Mine near Placerville and Blackhawk on the River near McCall, has millions of dollars in escrow from Chinese investors awaiting approval of green cards from U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services.

Once approved, the money will be released and the gold processing plant is expected to go into production, said Sima Muroff, head of the regional center.

Several other regional centers have started in the state. They allow investors a chance to get green cards in exchange for investments of $500,000 to $1 million.

The InvestIdaho Regional Center is expected to make an announcement next week. Two others, Idaho EB-5 Regional Center and the Idaho Global Investment Center in eastern Idaho, are organizing.

CLICK FOR LOCAL DEALS & ADVERTISING SPECIALS

Shop now.

Confidence Comes Standard.®

Idaho Statesman Top Jobs »

Technical Manager

Reunion Power

US-ID-Jerome

Post a Resume

Post a Job

See more jobs at

CareerBuilder.com

» See More Top Jobs

Find a Job

Keywords:
e.g., registered nurse

Location:
City, State or Zip

Search

Sinomach executives told Southeast Idaho Energy, which is planning to build a $2 billion fertilizer plant in Power County, they want the contract for engineering, procurement and construction. Their access to financing is their deal sweetener.

Southeast Idaho Energy hopes to turn coal into gas to produce nitrogen fertilizer and sulfur. The company expects to hire 700 to 1,000 people during construction with 150 permanent workers.

The company also would separate the carbon dioxide that contributes to climate change and ship it to Wyoming, where it can be pumped underground to enhance the extraction of natural gas.

While Otter was in Beijing in June, he spoke about the project with Jin Kening, chairman of the China National Chemical Engineering Corp. — a different government-owned company. Don said Chinese national companies do compete with each other, but won't let their own competition get in the way.

"Whatever makes the deal go forward," Don said.

Doug Sayer, president and CEO of Premier Technology, worked with Otter in Beijing to build long-term relationships with China National. His company could bid on some of the work to build the fertilizer plant.

"Anything we can do to work toward having good industry opportunities for investment is important whether we get a piece of that work," Sayer said.

The state's efforts have been critical to the discussions, said Pat Sullivan, a Boise lobbyist who works with Southeast Idaho Energy.

"One thing these Chinese see is we have a governor here who has a great big open-door policy, and I think that's making a difference in this Sinomach project," he said.

AN UNUSUAL IDEA THAT MAY BECOME COMMON

Sinomach is not looking only at Idaho.

The company sent delegations to Ohio, Michigan and Pennsylvania this year to talk about setting up research and development bases and industrial parks. It has an interest in electric transmission projects and alternative energy as well.

The technology zone proposal follows a model of science, technology and industrial parks in China — often fully contained cities with all services included.

But Don and other local supporters have recommended fitting the idea into the kind of planned unit development used for local approval here.

Sinomach officials met with Boise city and airport officials — including Mayor Dave Bieter — to discuss developing a first phase for the technology zone that would set up a base of operations for Chinese companies doing business in the United States.

City officials were cautious, since the idea is at an early stage.

"We understand they are at a preliminary stage. We are waiting to hear back from them with a proposal for where they want to go from here," said Cece Gassner, assistant to the mayor for economic development.

The proposal could get a boost from this year's voter-approved constitutional amendment that allows the airport to borrow money to build facilities that can be leased to companies on a long-term basis. The airport commission also has the authority to grant long-term leases and landing rights to air carriers, including those from China.

Sinomach is not the only Asian company looking at Boise, Gassner said.

"We're getting calls from investors from all across Asia who are interested in Idaho," she said.

Idaho's location, only another 45 minutes farther by air than Seattle from Asia, will open many opportunities, state and local officials said.

The state's low cost for doing business will help, too.

Sinomach is attracted to Idaho, in part, because of the lack of infrastructure here, which means it has more opportunity.

"Idaho's the last state that should say we don't want to do business with Asia," said Lt. Gov. Brad Little. "Asia's where the money is."

Yeh Ling-Ling, executive director of the Alliance for a Sustainable USA, said U.S. businesses should be cautious about making contracts that give Chinese companies the best jobs — though she is more worried about investment programs that encourage immigration, which Idaho also has jumped into this year.

Adfusion Error: We are very sorry for this inconvenience, but there has been an error processing this request. The Adfusion technical team has been notified.

"I believe that Idaho or other American companies should first seek investments from America and employ American engineers first," said Ling-Ling, a naturalized citizen from Orinda, Calif., who was born in Vietnam of Chinese parents.

Little, who met with Zhang Chun, director general of Sinomach, and other company officials, said he thinks the state and the company are a good fit.

But that doesn't mean the state won't stick up for its own interests.

"We're sure not going to favor a Chinese company over an Idaho company," Little said.

Rocky Barker: 377-6484

OPTIONS: Most Read Stories | Story Comments | Email Story | Print story

Hide all comments

Story Comments

We welcome comments but ask that you remain on topic. Some comments may be reprinted elsewhere in the site or in the newspaper. Comments that are profane, personal attacks or otherwise inappropriate or are off topic are subject to removal. Repeat offenders will be blocked. Do not flag comments merely because you disagree with the comment.

more about comments here.

  1 person liked this.

Add New Comment

Required: Please login below to comment.

Idaho Statesman

Type your comment here.

Post as ...

Showing 1-10 of 340 comments

Sort by Newest first   Subscribe by email  Subscribe by RSS

Real-time updating is enabled. (Pause)

JasonGiraffe 01/01/2011 08:01 AM

PLEASE NOTE: No US Senator or Representative seems involved in this at all. What are Mike Craptastic, Jimbo Don't Know Risch, and Mike Simpleton doing to help get the Chinese to create jobs in Idaho?? Oh, that's right, they've spent all their political clout in a failed attempt to stop the repeal of Don't Ask Don't Tell. Since Craptastic, Risch, and Simpleton spend their free time trying to cram their personal religious views down the throats of their constituents, they ignore the real problems that face Idaho like a lack of industry and a lack of JOBS. Honestly, does Mike Craptastic do ANYTHING for the people of Idaho? To some people, it seems like he's on holiday, eating out, or napping 90% of the time. The new guy, Labrador, seems to be a zealot driven by hate and bigotry but the others seem to be the three laziest haters ever elected to Congress!!!

1 person liked this.

valleyview 01/01/2011 12:14 PM in reply to JasonGiraffe

I don't think that foreign companies should be depended on to create jobs in OUR country. Isn't that what we're supposed to do?

 Anteup and 2 more liked this

mccmtman 12/31/2010 08:22 PM

Once again Limbeckity loser, the Slow Witted Saluki I am one person, you need your meds and get over your insane rantings....

(Edited by author 3 days ago)

 gemstoneprincess liked this fastsaluki Today 08:53 AM in reply to mccmtman

With your head still stuck where it's at, it is obvious that the methane concentrations building up in your bloodstream appear to be reaching a point where they have had significant effects on your mental health.

Like Reply

mccmtman Today 09:26 AM in reply to fastsaluki

Its OK Slow Witted Egyptian Lap Dog.... Just ask mommy for a little more Lithium, with some additional Prozac, and the voices will go away.... Oh, and turn off Faux Spew, they are the devil...

Like Reply

gemstoneprincess 12/31/2010 08:30 PM in reply to mccmtman

You know?? I must say you guys are an amusing lot...Imagine if you were neighbors living on the same street and did not even know it!?? Somehow, I find it a wonderful thought, like Grumpy Old Men!

 gustatus_similis_pullus_509th liked this Like Reply

mccmtman 12/31/2010 08:41 PM in reply to gemstoneprincess

We probably drink at the same bars and are friends. Got to love the somewhat anonymity of the message board, true passions come to the surface. Its all good down the stretch,... And I'm not far from the grumpy ol man age. Some days I just wanna pull my pants to my nipples, ball up my fist, and scream at the teens to get off my lawn... ;)

(Edited by author 3 days ago)

1 person liked this. Like Reply

oldbulldog 12/31/2010 09:22 PM in reply to mccmtman

Don't forget the woodchucks!

1 person liked this. Like Reply

mccmtman 12/31/2010 08:19 PM

To Slow Wit Egyption Lap Dog: You are a Limbeckity loser...

(Edited by author 3 days ago)

 Farang_1 liked this Like Reply

fastsaluki 01/01/2011 12:27 PM in reply to mccmtman

And you are nothing more than a transparent figment of the farang-o-tang with many names' imagination.
0+0=0

Like Reply

1 2 ... 34 Next →

Garden City plans to build new Greenbelt bridge

It's official: M3's Eagle foothills development will be called Spring Valley

Judge lifts stay on 2 Tamarack ski lifts

People are still moving to Idaho, United Van Lines study shows

Idaho men held in Oregon; trooper finds 3 lbs of pot in car

Idaho Transportation Department official: Steer clear of DMV offices Monday, if you can

Otter sworn in for 2nd term as governor

Concordia law school receives large gift

Former Idaho charter school poised for Bible fight

Meridian-based business kicks off 'Dump Hunger' post-holiday food drive Monday to help refill food banks

Idaho MLS.com

Search Multiple Listing Service in ID.
www.MLS.com

The Garden City Hotel

Long Island, NY Hotel Deals. Find low Prices!
www.point-travel.com

Financial Services

Find Financial Services In Your Area With Local.com!
Local.com

Sponsored Links

5 Foods to never eat :
~~~~~
Cut down a bit of stomach fat every day by never eating these 5 foods.

Never eat

Ads by Yahoo!

IdahoStatesman.com

CUSTOMER SERVICE: Terms of Service | Privacy Policy | About our ads | Copyright | work for us | contact us | Newspapers in Education | Buy Photos

SECTIONS: news | sports | business | politics | opinion | entertainment | lifestyles | outdoors | special content | classifieds | shopping | boise weather

SUBSCRIBER SERVICES: subscribe now | pay your bill | vacation stop

RSS feeds

